

Let it be known that the NAB should also be attacking The Weather Channel as it too is an independant service that is now doing news stories as well as the weather. Its time the local radio and television industry get realistic and make their services more accurate. Theres romm for all to operate in their given field.